

[illegible][illegible][illegible]

Las candidatas se presentaron en sociedad

Alejandro Andrés LOS ANDES

A black and white photograph capturing a moment from a formal event, likely a coronation or a pageant. In the foreground, a woman, presumably the newly crowned queen or princess, is the central figure. She wears a sparkling tiara and a white sash adorned with a royal crest over a dark, patterned gown. She is smiling warmly at a man in a dark tuxedo with a white shirt and bow tie. They are holding hands, and she is holding a small, dark rectangular object. In the background, a line of women in white dresses and crowns stands in a row, slightly out of focus, suggesting a procession or a formal assembly. The setting appears to be an indoor hall with a polished floor.

La primera corona vendimial no podía ser más sencilla, ya que fue confeccionada con hojas de parra.

Valor: $30.000
Peso: 630 grs.
Piedras: oro, pl
zafiros, esmera
quarzo, brillan
rubles
Antigüedad: 15
Alto: 16,5 cm

Infografía LOS ANDES